

Oil fever

One of the most important trends in cosmetics nowadays is about Oils. Starting by Argan Oil, natural oils have been introduced in the past few years in the personal care routines all over the world.

Natural oils are nowadays trendy, related with “green” concerns and often with sustainability, ethical and biodiversity issues. Their content in Poly Unsaturated Fatty Acids (Omega 3, 6 and 9) is well appreciated (and surprisingly very known) by consumer. They love its feeling, its final touch in the skin and its shiny appearance of the hair.

All Cobiosa Oils are 100% natural. No additives have been used at the cultivated areas. We take a special care at the collection and storage of the seeds.

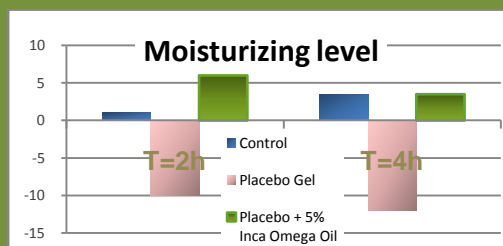

No chemical substances are added or used during the complete production process.

They are extracted using only cold pressing devices. No heat is applied to preserve the natural properties of the oil.

The oil of the Sacha Inchi (Plukenetia Volubilis) is the one with the highest content in Omegas: Ω3 (49%), Ω6 (37%) and Ω9 (8%) in the market. It has also a very important content in Delta and Gamma Tocopherol, more than any other seed oil.

Cobiosa has two ingredients with the same INCI name: Inca Omega Oil for Skin Care and Trichomega for Hair Care:

INCA OMEGA OIL

TRICHOMEGA

HYDRARGAN

Nowadays it has become an important cosmetic active ingredient, because it is a natural source of vitamin E, and its high content in Essential Fatty Acids.
